This conference, where women take the lead, encourages professional development and leadership in your bank, while also promoting the importance of fostering relationships and inspiring women to reach their career goals and aspirations. Our powerhouse speakers will help you advance your decision-making and negotiating processes and teach you how to deliver and apply these insights to benefit your future and your financial institution's future.

Who Should Attend: The Banking on Women Conference welcomes members of any financial institution or financial services provider interested in the enhancement and career growth of women in Indiana.

New this year...The IBA Exhibit Area As an additional benefit for attendees, this year we've added an exhibit area which will feature companies showcasing their products and services of interest to women in the banking industry. THE TRIBE HAS SPOKEN: HOW YOUR PERSONALITY IMPACTS AND INFLUENCES YOUR NEED TO SURVIVE

Juli Lynch, Ph.D., President

Turning Point Coaching & Consulting

Personality as a concept has been around for a long time. Most individuals, at some point in their career complete one of the standard personality profile tests such as Predictive Index, DISC, MBTI Strength Finder, etc. Personality arises from the primal instincts we have to survive – especially in times of stress. Throughout time humans have evolved with distinct personality archetypes that have increased their ability to survive not only as individuals but also as groups. Women have a natural inclination to move into personality roles that promote survival of both individuals and groups. However, women - at times - will deny honoring their authentic self to assure the survival of others.

In this presentation Juli collapses all the jargon, acronyms and content of the major personality systems into a system that reflects the archetypes of personality that humans have programmed in their DNA to promote survival of themselves and others. Are you a Keeper, Hunter, Healer, Warrior or Shaman? Personality styles are in our DNA thanks to our ancestors who also grappled with personalities in a quest for survival. You'll discover how well your team, department or Bank is surviving given the archetype profiles that are being engaged every day and you'll discover, as a woman, if you are honoring your "true self" – who you instinctually are – to be the very best you can be in both your professional and your personal life.

MAXIMIZING ENERGY FOR FULL ENGAGEMENT

Sarah Turner, Principal

The Faurote Group

Most days, we are running on fumes. Jumping through the whirlwind of our day attempting to complete all tasks with some energy left for ourselves. What most fail to realize is the common denominator in all dimensions of our lives is energy. That includes both physical energy (high to low) and emotional energy (negative to positive). Without the right formula of energy, no mission can be accomplished. In this session, we explore the power of being fully engaged and how to eliminate toxic, unpleasant energy for more positive, pleasant energy, where we are likely to be most efficient, most successful, and most happy.

This session encourages shared perspectives on ways to maximize energy/engagement and includes reflection exercises to spur thought and action. Participants will receive an assessment tool for gauging energy and be exposed to the High-Performance Pyramid which shares the four capacities for our performance: physical, emotional, mental and spiritual.

During this engaging, energized and interactive session, we will discuss and demonstrate the following:

- Understand Energy, not Time, is our most precious resource;
- Highlight four forms of energy: physical, emotional, mental, & spiritual and their association to alertness, concentration; creativity, commitment, and full engagement
- Discuss how to balance stress and recovery to achieve high performance; and,
- Identify steps to improve overall well-being, productivity, energy management and level of engagement.

11:30 AM – 1:00 PM

AWARD

11:30 AM – 1:00 PM
LUNCHEON SPEAKER AND

IBA WOMAN OF THE YEAR AWARD

The inaugural IBA Woman of the Year award celebrates a woman in banking who excels at her profession, is active in the community, and supports other females to reach their full potential – whether in banking or other fields. This is a bank-wide opportunity, with emphasis on ability to lift other women to help them succeed.

*Nominate yourself or another woman in banking by emailing the following details to Lrees@indiana-bankers.org; supporting documentation encouraged but not required. Please send by September 28, 2018.

1. Nominee's name, bank, title, and number of years of banking service;
2. A list of community organizations supported by the nominee, including type of service rendered and length of time of service;
3. Description of how the nominee goes above and beyond in support of lifting other females to their full potential – e.g. through mentoring, peer-to-peer exchange, volunteerism with girl-focused youth groups, or other means of championing for women.

Judging will be conducted by a panel of independent professionals unaffiliated with the IBA. We look forward to showcasing the 2018 IBA Woman of the Year at this year's Banking on Women conference!

1:15 – 2:15 PM

REDUCING THE HIGH COST OF DEFENSIVENESS IN YOUR ORGANIZATION

Donna Flynn, President & CEO

SkillsMastery Group, Inc.

Managing and leading people in organizations is both an art and a science. Many people say, 'people can be difficult' – I say, 'people can be defensive.' Defensiveness exists in every organization because as people we are all defensive – it's human nature. When we are defensive we spend our time focusing on distractions and avoiding the real underlying issues. Meetings take long, conversations get nowhere and when left unresolved, people avoid dealing with each other. The end result: not exactly a productive, or pleasant workplace. However, when we learn to recognize our defensiveness and deal with it, our relationships improve immediately, and we focus on the 'real' issues at hand, rather than the distractions. Those benefits translate directly to your organization, your customers and your bottom line.

At the end of this session, participants should be able to recognize defensiveness, deal with it promptly and utilize tools to reduce defensiveness in their organizations.

Sonya Jones earned a Bachelor of Science in Physical Education at Greenville College in Greenville, IL. She was a two-time Collegiate All-American in fastpitch softball as well as a semi-professional athlete. Donna Flynn, President & CEO SkillsMastery Group, Inc.

Donna Flynn, founder and owner of SkillsMastery Group, Inc. has spent her entire career in the business of people. Her company works with executives, and companies, helping them create a real purpose for their work, tap into their human talent and potential, and create a fun engaged, accountable team of people that consistently drive high-performance and results. She does this through creating atmospheres of openness, feedback, true accountability among members and 'getting real' about what goes on within the team, organization and its leadership. She is a firm believer that people create results, not organizations. Too often companies focus on improving processes to be more efficient and less costly and improving their products to give them a short-lived competitive advantage. Although both important, the true competitive advantage of every organization lies with the people who work there; they either help or hinder an organization's progress. She began her career in financial services, and after several sales and successful management positions, she was named the President and Market Manager for eight banks in the Chicagoland area. She led a staff of 50 during a tumultuous time in the banking industry, and was recognized for her leadership, results and culture change. Her bank was the first to be awarded business of the year and surpassed all its peers in its results. She then joined Banc One Mortgage Company as an executive coach and national sales manager, helping them develop a sales and service process within their national organization, and advising the executive team on their leadership, strategy, accountability and results.
