The GSB Human Resource Management School
This popular one-week school, designed specifically for HR professionals in the financial industry, addresses today's most critical HR issues. This school provides the foundation for new or veteran human resource professionals to tie together the important issues in human resource management with a bottom-line understanding about the business of banking.

The GSB Human Resource Management School is a great way to expand your knowledge of the banking industry and human resource management, improve employee performance, and establish a network of colleagues with whom to interact and exchange ideas.

To give attendees the best learning experience possible, this week is packed with HR management material and ideas that you can implement immediately upon return to the bank. The School has been divided into two core areas of study – the business of banking and human resource management.

The Human Resource Management School Scholarship
The scholarship amount is $1,050.00.

The Graduate School of Banking
Since 1945, the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin-Madison (GSB) has helped develop banking leaders through a program of advanced management education. Using feedback from its alumni, Banker Advisory Board, and sponsoring state bankers associations, GSB continuously updates program offerings to meet current professional development needs in the financial services industry. GSB currently offers a Graduate School of Banking, Human Resource Management School, Senior Management Seminar, Financial Managers School and a variety of live online seminar programs. More than 20,000 alumni have benefited personally and professionally from attending one of the GSB programs offered.

For Additional Information
To learn more about the Human Resource Management School, please visit the GSB website: gsb.org or call 800-755-6440.

Please note: A separate application for the Human Resource Management School must be completed via the GSB website.
